The Challenge

During our Mind Exploration Session, we discovered they didn't want the site built for "just any hunter." They wanted to target a specific segment of the hunting market via a professional website that effectively communicated the services they provide.

The Solution

Gaining a clear understanding of their "ideal client" allowed us to create a website that not only encouraged multiple page views, but also one which leads visitors on a journey through the website.

The Results

This is our most-complimented website to date. People love its simplicity; the client loves the Content Management System it contains. Take a look for yourself!

Testimonial

"Great service and attention to time and communication during the process. I feel as if needs were met and surpassed. I continue to receive great compliments on our website, Ugly Mug Marketing really made the difference. I feel empowered to use the website as a tool and Ugly Mug Marketing took the fear factor out of website design and usage."
